

REFERENCE PROJECTS

Since 1949, RCF has been committed to the perfect reproduction and amplification of sound for events and concerts, recording, public address, broadcast and Hi-Fi/portable audio. The company brings Italian passion for perfection and design excellence in the audio universe. All products and components are designed and developed in-house to ensure maximum quality and reliability. The comprehensive catalog covers all aspects of the audio chain and meets the requirements of musicians, sound engineers, architects and system integrators.

Innovation comes first and foremost, thanks to the RCF R&D team, creators of many original products and technologies, such as the hyper-venting system, the inside/outside voice coil, the dual silicone spiders and countless mechanical, digital and electronic leading edge solutions. RCF is always at the forefront of new technologies and materials, providing tools, documentation, technical support and training to help professionals deliver optimized sound to the listener. RCF has always shared its knowledge, experience and skills of its engineers in training activities for all audio professionals and enthusiasts. At the same time, the internal support engineering team is on hand to assist architects, system designers or integrators during the design and customization of complex systems.

The solid technical expertise, built on nearly 70 years of history, modern Italian manufacturing facility and the continuous technological improvement make RCF a fundamental reference for all audio professionals and enthusiasts. You can find RCF everywhere, in concert venues, recording studios, airports, conference halls, discotheques, public spaces, clubs, cruises or in the hands and houses of countless musicians. RCF distributes directly in the United States, France, Germany, Spain, Benelux, the United Kingdom, plus a network of trusted professional distributors throughout the rest of the world.

MUSEUMS AND EXHIBITION CENTERS

National Museum of Science and Technology Leonardo da Vinci - Milan (Italy)

500 years after Leonardo da Vinci's death, the Museum of Science and Technology of Milan celebrates the engineer and humanist "Homo Universalis" with the largest permanent exhibition in the world. A spectacular setting guides the journey starting from the Florence of the fifteenth century. From the training of the young Leonardo to the contribution of the Tuscan engineer to his stay in Milan, invited by the Sforza family.

Over 1300 square meters and 170 between historical models, works of art, ancient volumes, and installations revive the narration through the evolution of Leonardo's thought in an emotional, physical, and intellectual experience.

The New Galleries renew the historical setting with which the Museum opened to the public in 1953 and represent a unique cultural resource to inspire the new generations, the world of research, and enthusiasts of all ages.

For the occasion, the museum also renews the devices for the voice alarm and fire evacuation with an extension of the RCF DXT 3000 system previously installed. In addition to the MX 3500 units, new compact and powerful DP 1420EN loudspeakers and BE3806 microphone bases with BM 3806 push-button extensions were installed.

MX 3500 is the master unit of the Voice Alarm system DXT 3000, dedicated to small and medium-sized applications where an EN 54-16 certified system is required. The system is equipped with powerful and exceptionally reliable Class D power amplifiers, that provide up to 500 W of total power. Depending on the model, each module is able to serve up to 6 independent zones. Moreover, a spare power amplifier facility is also available.

The internal power supply is EN 54-4 certified, and the back-up batteries can be included inside the cabinet, making the system a complete and extremely compact solution. The cabinet also features customizable finishing. The on-board DSP platform allows optimizing environmental equalization, maximizing voice intelligibility, background music, and performances. The system can be completed with emergency microphone consoles, allowing to add live announcements functionality.

CONFERENCE ROOMS AND CONVENTION HALLS

International Convention Centre Wales (ICCW) Wales (UK)

When the £84m International Convention Centre Wales (ICCW) opened in September 2019, it was not only the first of its kind in Wales, but this joint venture between the Welsh Government and the Celtic Manor Resort has delivered an astonishing 26,000 sq.m. of floor space for meetings, conferences, and exhibitions (the size of four international rugby pitches).

Incorporated within this is a 4,000 sq.m., pillar-free, multi-reconfigurable main hall, which threw up many challenges for technology contractors, Stage Electrics. Their solution was to specify an end-to-end workflow from the extensive RCF catalogue, tying nearly 800 speaker products (and over 1,000 RCF components in total) into a multi-use PA in the main hall and mobile systems for the meeting rooms, merged into a fully-compliant PAVA environment.

Stage Electrics have enjoyed enormous success installing RCF systems into a wide range of applications for over 15 years, as Dan Aldridge, their Commercial & Projects Director, points out. “We specify RCF because of its reliability and the support we receive. The products deliver exceptional performance, and that makes it compelling for clients, especially when ‘A-B’ listening and measurement tests are carried out as part of the evaluation, as was the case here.”

RCF’s Engineering Support Group entered the process, designing an integrated site-wide DXT 9000 based PAVA solution to meet all standards in terms of emergency purposes, including a single infrastructure of EN54-24 certified speakers. Virtually every room has an RCF speaker, whether PL 70EN ceiling speakers, Media series, horns, BS 5EN pendant speakers, or DP 1420EN aluminum sound projectors.

The sound reinforcement in the Main Hall functions independent of the PAVA. For this, Stage Electrics provided 18 x TTL 6-A elements, all controlled using RCF’s proprietary RDNet. Flexible and quick to rig, this scalable system can be set up as a one-box solution or expanded into a complete column, optimized by allowing the TTL 6-A tilt angle to be set accordingly.

A further six RCF EVOX 10 and four EVOX 12, along with the HD 10-A, HD 12-A, and SUB 8006-AS, have been provided as a highly portable roll-in/roll-out system for use in their 15 flexible meeting rooms.

HOSPITALS

Saint Gerardo Hospital – Monza (Italy)

The San Gerardo Hospital of Monza, one of the most prestigious health facilities in northern Italy, has undergone an important strengthening intervention. An articulated expansion project with new buildings and renovation of the existing buildings, are aimed to provide a radical modernization and technological update. The redevelopment includes a complex RCF project for EN54-compliant fire evacuation systems and vocal announcements.

The work, for a total amount of over 200 million euros, brings the total surface of the hospital structure to approximately 196,000 sqm; given the particular complexity and extent of the projects, the intervention was divided into four phases which will see the definitive end to construction by the end of 2022.

The new hospital complex is divided into several areas, with organizational and managerial buildings, but well connected. Each building is intended to accommodate various care activities without interference. The complete replacement of all the elements of the facades was also conceived in order to achieve a radical improvement in thermal and acoustic insulation performance, increase the comfort of hospitalization, and the containment of energy consumption.

The entire system for service communications and voice alarm is based on the RCF DXT Series matrixes with numerous components from the RCF Voice Alarm product catalog. The installation includes a 42 unit master control system for the “New Avancorpo” and two 28 unit slave control interface(?) “Sector AEA” and “Sector AEC” connected together with multimode optical fiber in a ring topology. Two microphone consoles are available for fire brigades to send pre-recorded alarm messages and emergency announcements to all areas - or groups of them. A table console allows complete system management and supervision of all the plants with a simple LCD display. From the table console users can address messages, evacuation calls, and announcements in the individual areas throughout the entire complex. The slave control units are each equipped with an additional VVF console for local emergencies.

Numerous recessed PL series speakers, DU steel speakers, and CS column arrays are installed, as well as HD horn systems for outdoor areas. All RCF components installed are EN54 certified.

ERA Technopolis – Anapa (Russia)

Located in the Black Sea resort town of Anapa, military innovative technopolis “ERA” is built to reduce the time from the creation of innovative scientific projects for the country’s defense capability and for peaceful purposes. The Russian solution provider Avilex was selected to develop the multi-zone warning system for the facility covering more than 17 hectares area and 5 buildings, also integrating the buildings together creating a unique broadcasting system.

Functioning structures include an assembly hall and life support facilities, a residential unit for soldiers (for approx. 2000 people) a sports and health complex with a swimming pool and fitness equipment, as well as a number of technical facilities and sites. The construction of this military complex advanced at an unprecedented pace to have a fully working facility in less than one year after the foundation was laid.

With the assistance of ARIS, the Russian RCF distributor, Avilex deployed more than 300 RCF products on the area. All powered by RCF IPS amplifiers, the installation features a vast range of RCF passive speakers - MR series of point source speakers, CS column speakers, VSA steerable column speakers, HD weatherproof horn speaker, and also active line arrays such as the HDL 20-A with SUB 9006-AS.

RCF HDL 20-A at Stadthalle Osterode

Situated in the German town of Osterode am Harz, the Stadthalle Osterode hosts many varied events throughout the course of the year. Central to the cultural life in the region since 1973, and renovated a few years ago, the theatre has firmly established itself on the local landscape and frequently welcomes well-known stage names in both the classical as well as modern dramatic world, as well as big names from all music genres.

In addition, fairs, exhibitions, balls, and other occasions frequently take place in the large hall, with seating for 872 (or around 2,000 standing).

However, the venue does not only promote its own events but rents out to third-party promoters. And so when it came to installing a new permanent sound system it had already been exposed to a range of PA systems from local rental companies.

The one that stood out was RCF's HDL 20-A highly popular composite line array. And so a team from the Stadthalle approached Georg Hofmann, Product Manager Commercial Audio and Installed Sound, at dBTechnologies—RCF's German distributor.

Hofmann recalls, "The HDL 20-A's had been to the Stadthalle many times with rental companies, and they were convinced that it would provide the best solution for their new permanent sound system."

Immediately after Prolight+Sound 2017 in Frankfurt he made a site visit and carried out an acoustic simulation for optimum 3D modeling, using EASE.

Based on this solution, a public tender was issued, and the order for the PA was duly placed with dBTechnologies' installation partner M-Akustik, based in Hessisch-Oldendorf.

The newly designed system comprised flown hangs of six HDL 20-A and an HDL 18-AS sub, along with a pair of SUB 8004-AS subwoofers per side. Four TT 052-A, from RCF's Touring & Theatre series, provided the front fills, with a further pair of TT 052-A as under-balcony delays. The entire system is controlled from RCF's dedicated DX-1616 Matrix Audio Processor.

In 2019, the Stadthalle technical team visited Georg Hofmann again at an industry convention. "They explained how happy they were with the new system," he confirmed.

BB King's Blues Club - Memphis (USA)

Edison, New Jersey — When Nicholas DeLaCruz, founder and CEO of High Rise Production, a Memphis, Tennessee-based production company that specializes in AVL sales, installs, consultations and rentals, signed on with Beale Street Blues Company, an organization that manages many of the music and entertainment venues in the Memphis area, he knew that updating the sound system in the iconic B.B. King's Blues Club would be one of his first tasks. "When I was at NAMM, I had it narrowed down to about three or four audio companies, but meeting Tarik [Solangi, RCF Vice President, Sales & Marketing] made all the difference," proclaims DeLaCruz.

After meeting with Solangi, and seeing what RCF could offer B.B. King's, in terms of both sound and style, the decision was a no-brainer, according to DeLaCruz. "B.B. King's Memphis location is a really cool, vibey place and it's hard to throw a system in there without taking away from the authenticity of it," he admits. "We've got the old Leslie [Rotating Speaker Cabinet] in there, and a lot of what attracts people is the history behind it, so how do you add a sound company that's going to complement that? The RCF HDL 6-A Active Line Array Modules are sleek and they don't take away from the atmosphere of the venue—the line arrays fit the vibe and the authenticity of the place." It's worth noting that RCF Product Specialist Jim Reed got together with DeLaCruz and put the system design together utilizing drawings, as well as input from Solangi, based on his original site visit.

For the uninitiated, Beale Street, where B. B. King's is located, is quite possibly Tennessee's most visited attraction, and, according to USA TODAY, it's arguably one of America's most iconic streets, thanks to a history steeped in blues. Even today, every bar and restaurant on Beale Street features live music, and tributes to area legends abound. One such legend is B.B. King. In the late '40s and early '50s, King was an integral part of the then-burgeoning blues scene on Beale Street. "Beale Street was where it all started for me," King told the Los Angeles Times in a 1994 interview. At the time, he was even in a group called the Beale Streeters, with other future legends, such as Bobby Bland, Johnny Ace and Earl Forrest. In 1991, Beale Street developer John Elkington recruited B.B. King to open the original, and now-iconic, B.B. King's Blues Club. Other B.B. King's Blues Clubs have popped up in places like Los Angeles and New York City, but Memphis is the original.

Katy Perry – Australia

Earlier this year, International pop sensation Katy Perry performed a free concert in the small but prominent town of Bright in Victoria's North East. 'Fight On' was a family-friendly event held to thank emergency services and first responders to Australia's recent bushfire crisis. An exceptional popstar needs exceptional sound, and this is where local production specialist Densal Audio was able to deliver.

A formidable array of RCF's first-class workhorse HDL 20-A units were flown on both sides of the stage, an immense 11 units per side. Front fill was provided by groupings of RCF's TT 22-A II high definition point source speakers. Highlighting their versatility, side, and rear fill was provided by further sets of HDL 20-A units, ground-stacked into small arrays to ensure coverage from all angles of the Pioneer Park Recreation Reserve.

The HDL 20-A is an active line array module with a compact form factor, suitable for both touring and install applications. The units are capable of delivering high-quality tour sound and superior loudness, whilst minimizing space requirements. Featuring 2 x 10" woofers and a 3" compression driver, and weighing in at only 30kg, each unit is capable of an impressive 135dB SPL. These particular units found their way to Densal Audio thanks to Factory Sound, one of Australia's leading retailers in professional audio equipment.

Perry's one-hour performance had children and adults alike bopping to her extensive catalog of chart-topping hits- with the clarity and punch of RCF's powerful line array technology soaking up a good portion of the well-earned limelight.

Tunbridge Wells Baptist Church (UK)

Tunbridge Wells Baptist Church in Kent, UK, has substantially upgraded its PA with an RCF HDL 26-A ultra-compact active two-way line array. The system was specified and installed by Adlib after the company successfully bid for the full audio-visual contract—including lighting and projection—after the previous system had reached end of life.

Stated Adlib's, Tim Robinson, "The process started back in October 2017 and we have been through several iterations along the way." The quotation they provided not only exceeded the remit for performance but also met the budget, as well as the requirement for a discreet, elegant system, finished in white. After considering various options Robinson was convinced that "the HDL 26-A has provided the church with the best outcome available."

Each of the two hangs comprises seven HDL 26-A elements, integrated with a pair of flyable HDL 35-AS 15" subwoofers. Despite the loudspeakers being self-powered, there were no practical weight constraints. "Even though they're self-powered, the HDL 26-A system is still lighter than some externally-powered competitors," he confirmed.

One design criterion was that all LF elements should be flown. "The compatibility between the HDL 35-AS and HDL 26-A made that an easy decision. For practical reasons, it keeps the floor clear and all items out of harm's way; and for acoustic reasons it maximises the efficiency and coherence of the arrays and meant we would not be murdering the front rows with sub."

In addition, the provision of six RCF HD 10-A active two-way wedge monitors provides additional flexibility. Finally, a pair of RCF MR 50 have been installed in the foyer, driven from the matrix on the mixer so that it can be run independently.

Summing up, the installer says, "While the HDL 26-A sounds as good as I thought it would be, the HDL 35-AS far exceeded my expectations. I was expecting a total of four 15" to deliver a nice full-range system, which would be more than sufficient for a worship band, but hardly trouser-flapping sub. The fact that the HDL 35-AS goes so low and so loud, despite the box being so physically small for a 15", means there's some RCF witchcraft in there somewhere!".

Paul Brown Stadium - Cincinnati (USA)

For the last 20 years, the Cincinnati Bengals have been taking on NFL rivals at Paul Brown Stadium. This 65,515-seat gridiron arena has always placed a premium on the strength and quality of its audio systems. Equally known as the site of performances by artists ranging from Kenny Chesney to Guns N' Roses, PBS, as locals call it, subscribe to the notion that sound traveling throughout its concourses and seating areas should live up to concert-level expectations at all levels, whether it be on game day or for special events.

Designed and implemented by Nashville, Tennessee-based Durrell Sports Audio Management, the new system is an amalgam of catalog and custom speakers built in Italy expressly to meet the needs of this unique application by RCF. The project was implemented in three phases, with the first kicking-off in 2018 and bringing, among other things, new delay loudspeakers from RCF to the upper deck and canopy level. Phase two added approximately 120 new RCF loudspeakers to the lower level and 70 more to the canopy level in 2019, along with eight dual 21-inch RCF subwoofers on each side of the canopy level.

Phase three of the project was approved in January 2020, so by February, the job was underway, with Durrell working hand-in-hand with Louisville, Kentucky's United Electric to turn the new vision into reality. Critical to the audio heard within this space as well as sound traveling throughout the entire bowl, custom-built speakers from RCF figured prominently within the phase three additions. Wide horizontal coverage cabinets designated as model HVL 15-L1 and narrow coverage speakers bearing the model number HVL 15-P1 were provided by the Italian manufacturer as one-off custom units built to Durrell's specs just for PBS. In between these custom long-throw boxes, standard offerings from the RCF catalog including model P 4228, P 3115T, and P 6215 cabinets were interspersed as downfill in large number.

Out in the bowl and throughout the concourse levels, Scott Simpson, executive producer of JungleVision Productions, relates that the renewed audio system's RCF loudspeakers differ from their predecessors in terms of balance and overall coverage. "The expanded coverage in the facility is outstanding, it's a whole new experience for our fans. Paul Brown Stadium can now continue to classify itself as one of the truly great sounding venues on the planet."
